A new title which is more aptly descriptive of the claimed invention is requested.

The last word "Figures" on page 23 should be deleted.

The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout for the specification of a utility application. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

As provided in 37 CFR 1.77(b), the specification of a utility application should include the following sections in order. Each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as a section heading. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) TITLE OF THE INVENTION.
- (b) CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS.
- (c) STATEMENT REGARDING FEDERALLY SPONSORED RESEARCH OR DEVELOPMENT.
- (d) INCORPORATION-BY-REFERENCE OF MATERIAL SUBMITTED ON A COMPACT DISC (See 37 CFR 1.52(e)(5) and MPEP 608.05. Computer program listings (37 CFR 1.96(c)), "Sequence Listings" (37 CFR 1.821(c)), and tables having more than 50 pages of text are permitted to be submitted on compact discs.) or
  - REFERENCE TO A "MICROFICHE APPENDIX" (See MPEP § 608.05(a). "Microfiche Appendices" were accepted by the Office until March 1, 2001.)
- (e) BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION.
  - (1) Field of the Invention.
  - (2) Description of Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.
- (f) BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION.
- (a) BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL VIEWS OF THE DRAWING(S).
- (h) DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.
- (i) CLAIM OR CLAIMS (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (j) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE (commencing on a separate sheet).
- (k) SEQUENCE LISTING (See MPEP § 2424 and 37 CFR 1.821-1.825. A "Sequence Listing" is required on paper if the application discloses a nucleotide or amino acid sequence as defined in 37 CFR 1.821(a) and if the required "Sequence Listing" is not submitted as an electronic document on compact disc).

The claims should start on a separate sheet.

For clarity, combination of the claims should be separated from the preamble and started from a new paragraph and indented.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

The specification fails to disclose processor readable instructions that when executed by a processor implement mechanisms in a manner as claimed in claims 1, 2 and 5. The specification fails to disclose how to determine an appropriate reporting level and how to determine the bandwidth for use in providing network status as claimed in claims 3 and 4. There are no circuits or programs disclosed for doing that. The specification merely consists of desired functional statements. Showing a few menus or dialog boxes of a program in the drawings is not sufficient.

Claims 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "appropriate" is vague and indefinite in that it is not clear what determine whether or not it is appropriate. Further, it is not clear what "reporting level" is. This can be corrected by identifying it as reporting level of details.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2155

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pendleton (USP 5,982,753) in view of Kavner (USP 6,430.607).

See at least the abstract, Figures 2, 3 and 6, columns 1-4, lines 50 et seq. of column 7, lines 14 et seq. of column 8 and lines 37-45 of column 8 in Pendleton.

Pendleton teaches a computer implemented system (see Figure 2 and 6) for managing (col.2, line28-44, lines 6-20 of column 3) a flow of network status messages to a network operations console, comprising: a processor; and a computer readable medium encoded with processor readable instructions (Figure 2 and 6) that when executed by the processor implement, a network status gathering mechanism configured to ascertain a network status (lines 28-44 of column 2, step 202 of Figure 6, line 50 et seg. of column 7), a network status reporting mechanism configured to report said network status to said network operations console (step 208 of Figure 6 and lines 14 et seq. of column 8), and a network status reporting level determination mechanism configured to determine a level of details to report said network status to said network operations console based on at least one of user request (step 212, lines 37 et seg. of column 8). It is well known that bandwidth is required to be allocated for transmitting data including reports of network status. Pendleton does not teach that bandwidth is predetermined. Predetermining bandwidth is well known in the art. Kavner teach preallocate bandwidth to message stream based on priority. From the teaching of Kavner, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to allocate bandwidth for use in reporting network status if it is of higher priority so that the report is able to reach the administrator faster.
